The Empire of Avogra is nearing the end of its current peaceful era. Murders within Palace walls and uprisings within the Kingdoms are pushing Avogra to complete collapse. Behind the scenes, the Emperor's right hand men, the Magisters, are wary of the connection between these events and the sudden death of two of their colleagues, in addition to the strange magical aura emanating from the Northeastern Mountains. A power struggle of crowns and spilt blood will deeply mark the history of this nation.
